The Parish Council of Estreito de Câmara de Lobos hereby expresses its full support for the application of Madeira Wine Traditions for inclusion on UNESCO's Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity.

As an organisation deeply linked to the promotion and preservation of cultural traditions that sustain the economic and social development of local communities, we support Madeira Wine Traditions as a legacy of undeniable historical and cultural value. More than just an excellent oenological product, this wine is an emblem of the cultural identity of the Estreito de Câmara de Lobos, whose Madeira Wine production area is the largest in the entire region, and of course in the Autonomous Region of Madeira, and an essential pillar for the economic sustainability of many local producers. Viticulture is therefore very important to the identity of the inhabitants of this parish, giving them a sense of continuity.

For all these reasons, we express our unconditional support for the candidacy of Madeira wine traditions for UNESCO's Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity.

The President of the Parish Council
